Allegheny Chapter of the American Musicological Society

Saturday, October 7, 2006
Creative Arts Center
West Virginia University
Morgantown, WV

9:00   Registration and Coffee

10:00-12:00 Morning Paper Session

John E. Crotty, West Virginia University
Which Paradigm? The Form of the C Minor Fugue from Bach’s WTC I

Nathan Bowers, University of Pittsburgh
“The best friend of a hostess is the Victrola”: An Early Marketing Strategy for Music Machines

Carol Padgham Albrecht, University of Idaho
The Respectable Career and Sensational Death of Viennese Court Opera Singer Anna Ascher (ca. 1775-1803)

12:00   Lunch and Business Meeting

2:30-4:00 Afternoon Paper Session

Joanna Smolko, University of Pittsburgh
Zion’s Walls: Copland’s Transformation of an Old American Song

Alan Krueck, Brownsville, PA
Maledictory Musicology, or The Jettisoning of Scholarship for the Sake of Indulging in the Supercilious and Mean-Spirited on Behalf of Authoritative Posturing in Defamation of a Composer

Theodore Albrecht, Kent State University
“More by his disapproval”: The Political Machinations of Antonio Salieri
Meeting Location: The Creative Arts Center located on the Evansdale Campus of West Virginia University, Morgantown, West Virginia

Driving Directions:
From the North (Pittsburgh/Erie), West (Akron/Cleveland) or South (Charleston/Huntington): Exit I-79 at Exit 155 (designated Star City/West Virginia University). Follow the signs toward Morgantown. After crossing the Star City Bridge, go through the first traffic light and up the hill to the second light. At the third light turn left into the Creative Arts Center.

From the East: Follow I-68 West towards Washington, PA. I-68 will intersect with I-79. Take I-79 North to Exit 155 (designated Star City/West Virginia University). Follow the signs toward Morgantown. After crossing the Star City Bridge, go through the first traffic light and up the hill to the second light. At the third light turn left into the Creative Arts Center.

Parking: Free parking is available in the parking lot in front of the Creative Arts Center. Enter the building from the parking lot through the doors on your left. Signs will direct you to our meeting room.

Lodging: The following motels are located close to the Creative Arts Center and have been marked on the map on the reverse. Please indicate that you are attending a conference at the Division of Music, West Virginia University.

Hampton Inn Hotel
1053 Van Voorhis Road
(304) 599-1200
Conference Rate: $84.00 plus tax

Euro-Suites Hotel
501 Chestnut Ridge Road
(304) 598-1000
Conference Rate: $89.00 plus tax

The following hotel is located near Downtown Morgantown:

Waterfront Place
2 Waterfront Place
(304) 296-1700
Conference Rate: $89.00 plus tax

The following motels are located at Exit 1 of I-68:

The Ramada Inn
I-68, Exit 1
(304) 296-3431
Conference Rate: $68.00 plus tax

The Comfort Inn
I-68, Exit 1
(304) 296-9364
Conference Rate: $80.99 plus tax